

International Electronics Chain “Capi” Expands Its Offering at Vienna Airport by Opening a Third Shop

The specialist electronics retailer “Capi” from the Netherlands has already opened its third store at Vienna Airport. Effective immediately, passengers can now also select goods for purchase from an extensive offering of electronic devices and accessories in the Plaza in Terminal 2. The two other shops are located by the F gates and G gates in Terminal 3. The broad product range encompasses game consoles for use on the move, cameras and video devices as well as MP3 players, headphones, tablets and smart phones from premium brands or products from the company’s own “Mitone” brand. Capi ranks among the leading electronics retailers at airports across the globe.

“Smart phones, tablets and similar devices are useful companions on trips. With the opening of the third Capi shop, passengers now have an extensive selection of high-quality electronic products at their disposal in two different terminals. Capi is an internationally renowned quality provider and thus supports our service promise i.e. to offer our travellers a top-quality travel experience”, says Julian Jäger, Member of the Management Board of Flughafen Wien AG, commenting on the innovative electronics shop.

Capi: International supplier of state-of-the-art electronics

Capi was founded in the year 1894, and as part of B&S International B.V. is headquartered in Hoofddorp, Netherlands. The Dutch company has already been represented as an electronic retailer at airports across the globe since 1957. At the present time Capi operates a total of 40 shops at airports in Europe, the Middle East, Asia and Africa.
