

Vienna Airport: Volotea Now Offers Flight Service to Bilbao

Passengers can now benefit from even more flight connections to Spain. Starting today, March 29, 2018, Volotea will link Vienna Airport to the port city of Bilbao. At a press briefing, the new flight offering was inaugurated today by Carlos Cerqueiro, Corporate Development and Communications Director of Volotea and Nikolaus Gretzmacher, Senior Vice President Operations of Flughafen Wien AG.

“Bilbao is the third destination served by Volotea in the current flight schedule in addition to Marseille and Nantes. We are delighted with the expansion of the Spanish airline in Vienna. This puts new flight connections to popular holiday destinations at the disposal of our passengers. On balance, 105 weekly flights to Spain are now being operated from Vienna Airport”, says Julian Jäger, Joint CEO and COO of Flughafen Wien AG, who is pleased with the new flight offering.

“We are pleased to offer this new direct connection from Vienna to one of the most exciting and vibrant cities in Northern Spain. Bilbao offers a wide range of top events in 2018, including sports, music and gastronomy, and it the heart of Basque culture in Green Spain. We are proud to add this new destination to Vienna’s airport line-up that is being very well received at both ends, allowing touristic and business liaisons between both dynamic cities.” states Carlos Cerqueiro, Corporate Development and Communications Director of Volotea.

Twice weekly to the port city of Bilbao

The Spanish airline will offer flight service on the new route twice each week from Vienna. On Thursdays and Sundays, an aircraft will depart from Bilbao at 6:45 a.m. and land in Vienna at 9:15 a.m. The return flight will take off from Vienna Airport at 9:40 a.m. and arrive in Spain again at 12:30 p.m. The legendary Guggenheim Museum designed by Franz Gehry is one of the special attractions luring visitors to the capital of the Basque Country.
